Civil War

1861-1865

Civil War battles were crazy, confusing events. Soldiers who had often never seen battle before shouted, ran around, and shot off guns that made thick clouds of smoke. The weather was often hot and sticky with a blazing sun. Often all soldiers had to eat and drink before was warm water and stale food.

Imagine what it was like to be one of those soldiers and fill in what you would see, hear, feel, smell and taste on a Civil War battlefield.

As a soldier in a Civil War battle I would...

See: _____

Hear: _____

Feel: _____

Smell: _____

Taste: _____

Look at the mannequins in the gallery. Draw what they would wear, carry, and look like.

Philippine- American War

1899-1915

The Philippine Islands are more than 8,000 miles from America. They are covered in thick jungles, grassy plains, raging rivers, mountains, and even volcanoes. The weather is hot and humid all year round. At the time, most people living there did not speak English.

Imagine what it was like to be an American service member and fill in what you would see, hear, feel, smell and taste in the Philippines.

American soldiers in the Philippines had often never left the United States, or even their home states, before. Now, they were in a strange new country. How do you feel when you are far away from your home and family in a new place?

1. _____
2. _____
3. _____

Soldiers kept in touch with family back home by writing letters and drawing pictures. Draw a picture of something interesting you see in the Philippine-American War section of the gallery.

As a soldier in the Philippines I would...

Find this shape: (Hint: Look Up!)

Write the colors inside the circles so that it matches the colors you see on the plane.
It's not a Bullseye! This symbol told people if the plane was an ally or an enemy. This symbol was used by the Allied Powers in WWI, the side the U.S. was on.

Trenches were dug into the ground to protect soldiers from the enemy. In WWI a soldier could expect to spend up to 70 days in the trenches. They were not a fun place to be because they were often dirty, smelly, and dark. Look at the men in the trenches.

Imagine what it was like to be one of those soldiers and fill in what you would see, hear, feel, smell and taste during your time in the trenches.

As a soldier in the trenches I would...
